

About me

I am a UX/UI Designer who is also currently learning development.
With my background in hospitality, I specialise in empathetic problem-solving.
As a freelance designer, I have honed my skills in creating user-friendly interfaces.
My expertise includes wireframing, prototyping, and creating user flows, using tools such as Figma and Adobe XD.

Experience

06/2023 - current
UI Designer, Leora.io, Parramatta

- Led the redesign efforts of existing website interfaces, implementing innovative design solutions to refresh and modernise the user experience while preserving brand identity.
- Conducted in-depth analysis of previous UI designs, identifying areas for improvement, and successfully transformed outdated interfaces into visually compelling and user-friendly experiences.
- Collaborated closely with stakeholders to understand their specific pain points with the previous design, ensuring that the redesign addressed these concerns and resulted in a more effective and appealing user interface.

03/2023 - current
UX/UI freelancing, remote

- Developed visually engaging websites for clients using Squarespace, ensuring a seamless user experience while meeting client goals.
- Used a creative and strategic approach to design, resulting in increased web traffic and customer engagement.
- Maintained open communication with clients throughout the design and development process, ensuring timely and accurate delivery of final products.

05/2023 - current
Head barista, Salesforce, Sydney

- Leveraged customer service and personal skills to a team of baristas, creating a welcoming and engaging environment for customers and increasing sales.
- Used my creative problem-solving skills to manage inventory and improve efficiency, resulting in cost savings and increased customer satisfaction.

04/2021 - 05/2023
Supervisor/head barista, Bellucci Cucina, Sydney

- Streamlined daily operations and managed inventory levels, ensuring seamless customer experiences, and reducing wait times.
- Trained junior baristas, improving consistency and quality of products and services, and ensuring team members' growth and development.
